

CASE IS SUBMITTED.

Judge Holt and Judge Pryor Have a Lively Tilt Over the Filing of the Goebel Election Case.

The Case Will Go to the Federal Courts if the Law is Sustained by the Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 28.—A lively spat occurred in the appellate court this morning between Judges Pryor and Holt over the filing of the brief in the Goebel election law case by Judge Holt. The plea of Judge Holt for an extension of time until Tuesday for argument was granted. The case was submitted today without argument.

THE APPEAL.

Republican Policy in Fighting the Goebel Law—Hon. E. E. Hogg's Opinion.

Says His Party's Policy Is Driving Kentucky Into the Republican Fold.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 28.—The Goebel election law test case was docketed for argument before the court of appeals today. The attorneys for the democrats, it is understood, will make the recent decision in the state prison commission case their main citation, and will endeavor to show that the Goebel law is not radically different from the election laws in Ohio, New York and other states.

The republican attorneys will take the ground that it is in conflict with both the state constitution and federal election laws; was illegally passed, and upon the second of these will carry the case into the federal courts in case of an adverse decision in the state courts.

Hon. Edward E. Hogg, a lawyer, of Booneville, Owsley county, who was a democratic candidate for state senator in 1895, is here. He is violently opposed to the Goebel law. Discussing the general political discussion in the state, Mr. Hogg said: "I regret to see it, but the trend of the young men in this state is into the republican party. Things have been going that way fast in the last few years, and in my opinion the democratic party in the state will have to get away from some of the things that are now handicapping it and adopt some new policies, or ten years from now Kentucky will be hopelessly republican."

Hon. W. B. Smith, of Richmond, one of the candidates for the democratic nomination for governor, who, it has been understood, would make his race on a platform favoring the repeal of the Goebel law, denied to friends here that he would make the matter an issue, though he is said to be opposed to the law. Mr. Smith said the democratic leaders are impressed with a belief that as goes Kentucky in the state election next year so goes the country in 1900, and for that reason no sort of effort must be spared to elect the democratic ticket.

PARIS AGAIN AN OCEAN LINER.

New York, Oct. 28.—The American liner City of Paris, known during the Spanish war as the auxiliary cruiser Yale, resumed her place as merchantman when she sailed yesterday for Southampton. Since the expiration of the government's charter the steamer has been thoroughly overhauled and painted both inside and outside.

POLICE UNCERTAIN.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 28.—The police are still uncertain whether Henning, the missing defaulter, has been arrested in London as reported yesterday.

BACK TO WASHINGTON.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 28.—The peace jubilee has closed and the president has gone back to Washington.

THE FRENCH CABINET.

Mr. Dupuy Will Form One Today—Will Probably Favor a Retrial of Dreyfus Case.

Paris, Oct. 28.—M. Dupuy will form his cabinet today and it will probably be as follows: M. Dupuy, premier minister of interior; M. De Freycinet, minister of war; M. Constans, minister of justice; M. Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs; M. Ribot, minister of finances; M. Mourguet, minister of public instruction.

It is probable that this cabinet will favor a retrial of the Dreyfus case. Everything is quiet here today and no public demonstrations of any kind.

ENGLAND'S FINAL TERMS.

France Must Withdraw General Marchand From Fashoda Unconditionally and at Once.

England Will Put the Whole Blame for the War Upon France Should it Occur.

London, Oct. 23.—England has made public her final terms to France on the Fashoda matter, and they are that General Marchand must leave Fashoda at once and that his evacuation must be unconditional. England will brook no delay. If there is war over the Fashoda incident France will be the direct cause.

PORTO RICAN POSTOFFICES.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The Porto Rican postal commission has returned, having established eighty-eight offices in the colony. The present officers were for the most part retained. Postal Agent Valle, at Manila, reports that the service there is much improved over the Spanish regime.

TIN-PLATE PLANTS GROWING.

American Company Will Double the Size of Its Factory in Indiana.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 28.—The American Tin-Plate company, whose plant in this county is now stands in the largest of the kind in the United States, let contracts today for doubling the size of its plant, making it a forty-million concern, and by far the largest tin-plate plant in the world.

Besides this a big rolling mill will be erected in connection with the plant, and even the steel billets will be made here. When the additions are completed the working force will be over 4,000 men. The same company will engage in the manufacture of bicycles, and will erect big plants for that purpose. The company is composed of Richmond, (Indiana) capitalists and Pan-Handle railroad men.

This was the first tin-plate plant erected in this country, and it was opened and dedicated Sept. 17, 1892, by William McKinley. It has made all of its owners millionaires, and paid for all additions, including this one.

AN ARM BROKEN.

Richard Jones, a rouster on the P. D. Staggs whose home is in Calloway county near Pine Bluff, had his arm broken yesterday afternoon late by falling with a box of bacon, at the wharf boat here. Drs. Reddick and Stewart dressed the injury.

PHILIPPINE QUESTION.

Our Demands Will Be Made Known to the Spanish Commissioners Next Monday.

Reports from Havana Are That the Spanish Authorities Will Soon Hasten the Final Evacuation.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The American peace commissioners at Paris will make known our terms as to the Philippines on Monday. The president expects a prompt settlement of all subjects before the commissioners.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Reports from Cuba are to the effect that the Spanish authorities have ceased their quibbling and will now hasten the evacuation of the island.

COL. WARING ILL.

New York, Oct. 28.—Col. George E. Waring, Jr., formerly street commissioner of New York, is sick at home in this city with yellow fever contracted in Havana. Commissioner Jenkins of the health department has made the official statement to this effect. Col. Waring returned from Cuba two days ago. He was sent to Cuba by President McKinley to inspect the sanitary conditions of Havana. He spent some time in the city and was taken ill on his return voyage.

VALE OF TEARS.

There Was Weeping and Wailing at Today's Session of the Police Court.

Some Very Conflicting Swearing in Court Today—Two Plain Drunks.

There was weeping in Judge Sanders' court today.

The first to shed tears was a mother who did not like the way a case was decided.

Mrs. Minnie Dunlap swore out a warrant yesterday against Roy Smith, a nine-year-old boy, charging him with striking George Dunlap, aged five years, in the head with a lump of coal. The wound was a very painful one, and the evidence showed that the boys were playing. Smith being engaged in throwing stones at bottles. The little fellow was sent down a hill for more bottles, and while he was gone, Smith threw a lump which struck him. The evidence showed that the boys were in a good humor, and that young Smith could not even see the boy who was hit. Judge Sanders dismissed the warrant, whereupon the mother burst into tears, and started to tell what she would do the next time anyone struck her boy, but did not finish.

The court remarked as she left, "Now she thinks her boy was struck purposely, although she has heard the evidence."

"Yes, I do," was the reply, "if I hadn't I wouldn't have done anything about it."

The next case was one in which cocaine, that "green eyed monster" jealousy, tears and false swearing were the principal ingredients. It is seldom that there is such a mixture combined in one case.

Will Owens, a colored laborer employed at Halloran's pit, was charged with pointing a pistol at Joe Bailey, colored, who night before last went out to the home of Teresa McReynolds, colored, to have her clean some pants. He said he went into the house and saw Owens there. He had met Owens, and could see the latter did not relish his presence. He was jealous of Teresa. Presently Owens went to the mantle and took down a package of something, which he said was cocaine. He took a sniff, and remarked by way of parenthesis that he would "have a spell in a few minutes." This Bailey regarded as a bluff, and called. He called Teresa out on the porch to have a "private talk," and said directly Owens came out and poked a pistol into his face, telling him to get away, that he didn't like "Florin" negroes anyhow. Bailey concluded that Owens was having the "spell" he was talking about having, and when he gazed into the barrel of the pistol, it was only for a moment. He then came to the city and swore out a warrant.

The McReynolds woman swore that all Bailey had told was false, and that he was only jealous of Owens because Owens had cut him out of her daughter. She said Bailey owed her $1.75 and wouldn't pay her. The stuff Owens sniffed was nothing but sulphur, she said. He had no pistol, and there was none in the house. Owens did not even go out on the porch. Owens swore substantially the same, and Judge Sanders said there was some palpable false swearing somewhere, and he was going to find out who did it. The woman denied using cocaine, but seemed to be full of it while she was talking. The court left the case open, and said he would hold all three of them until it is ascertained who has sworn the lie. Prosecuting Attorney Wheeler Campbell was sent out to get the evidence of other witnesses before they could be communicated with by the woman and Owens.

When the woman was sent to the prisoner's dock to await the investigation, she began weeping, and could not be consoled, while Owens sat there and glared savagely at Bailey, who looked like a lamb being sent to the slaughter. He seemed to be "up against it," and unless additional evidence is found to corroborate his testimony, he will have to be warranted for perjury, as the preponderance of evidence is against him.

Mat Miller and Ed Hanley were fined $1 and costs for drunkenness. Officer Jones arrested the latter this morning and he was too drunk to attend court.

"CHATTANOOGA"

To Appear at Morton's Opera House Next Tuesday Night.

"Chattanooga" is the title of the new war play which will be exploited for the first time in this city at Morton's opera house next Tuesday night. The story of the play "Chattanooga" is taken from an actual occurrence in the war of the rebellion. The incidents occur two days before the battle of Lookout Mountain, and the chief feature of the piece hinges on the incident of getting a dispatch through the confederate lines to Gen. Hooker.

The love interest in the play hinges on the courtship of two nephews of a rich old southern planter, each one striving for supremacy in the girl's affection.

IMPORTANT CASE.

The Suit of Wisdom Executors Against the First National Bank Now on Trial.

An important case is now on trial in the circuit court. It was called this morning and the jury secured by noon.

The style of the suit is the executors of the will of the late Mr. B. H. Wisdom against the First National Bank on a note amounting to $5,000. The note was paid by the executors, and they now claim it is a forgery. The paper is contested on the ground that it is a forgery, and the alleged signer, Mr. Wisdom, being dead, there will be called in a great deal of expert testimony. The case is considered one of the most important on the docket, and will be fought by eminent legal talent, Hon. Henry Burnett being for the executors and Judge Bloomfield for the bank.

NO WARRANTS.

Prosecuting Attorney Campbell Makes an Investigation.

Prosecuting Attorney Wheeler Campbell went out this morning to Teresa McReynolds' home, on Liebel row, accompanied by Officer Jones, to examine some of the witnesses in the case investigated this morning in the police court against Will Owens, colored, charged with presenting a pistol.

The two young people present at the time that Owens did go out on the porch where Bailey was, but deny seeing a pistol. This conflicts with Owens' statement, however, as he claimed in court this morning that he did not even leave his seat while Bailey was there.

The powder on the mantle supposed to be cocaine, however, was sulphur. Bailey is well recommended by the sewer men, for whom he has worked for about seven months. Judge Sanders has issued no warrants for perjury yet, however, and this morning released McReynolds and Bailey, who were being held pending attorney's investigation.

THE BOND AFFAIR.

Nothing Will Probably Be Done for Several Weeks Yet.

There are no developments in the bond affair, and Roberts & Co.'s attorneys can do nothing until after December 1st, when the city has contracted to deliver the bonds in New York to the company. If any action is taken, it will be after that time.

In the meantime, however, there will be several meetings of the council, and the matter may then be brought up and adjusted in some way, even by paying the amount demanded by the company.

MANY LIVES WERE LOST

In the Recent Storm on the Great Lakes—The Steamer Doty and Her Crew Lost.

Fatalities on Lake Ontario—It Is Probable That the Loss of Life and Property Has Been Very Heavy.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 28.—It is now known that the steamer Doty sank in the recent storm and that her crew of sailors was lost. Pieces of the wrecked schooner are being found.

The schooner St. Peter foundered on Lake Ontario and the captain, his wife and eight of the crew were lost. Advances indicate that many other wrecks have occurred and that the loss of life and property has been very heavy.

THE MAN DISAPPEARED.

Coroner Phelps Was Disappointed This Forenoon.

Coroner George Phelps this morning found a man lying near the county court house whom he took at first glance to be dead. He at once thought of summoning a jury, but concluded he would speak to the imaginary corpse. When he did so he was rewarded by a reply. The man said he had been working out in the country and had started to Cape Girardeau, Mo., but could get no farther.

The coroner was so disappointed that he did not ask the man's name, but when he reached the city hall, reported his condition to the mayor. The latter sent an expressman to the spot indicated to haul the patient to the city hospital, but when the driver reached there the man had disappeared and no trace of him could be found anywhere.

FANNIE WAS ACQUITTED.

There Was No Evidence Against Her This Morning.

The case against Fannie Matthews, the woman of North Tenth street charged with selling beer without a license, was tried before U. S. Commissioner Puryear this morning and the warrant against her was dismissed. There was but one witness against her, and this was insufficient, under the law, to convict.

BEAUTIFUL PADUCAH.

Its Past, Present and Future Will Be Set Forth in the Sun's Columns.

The great industrial edition to be published on Thanksgiving day is not intended to mark any special feature in the history of Paducah or of the Sun, but it is intended to convey to the citizens of this busy city the fact that Paducah is wide awake and progressive; that there are to be found advantages here greater than those of neighboring towns, and that with the splendid railroad facilities and superior water connections, Paducah has a great future.

The history of Paducah will be set forth in a manner that will be attractive and command the respect of the people at large.

The Sun on that day will be the largest newspaper ever published in Paducah, and the circulation we guarantee many thousands in excess of the regular edition.

THE CRITICISM IN THESE COLUMNS a couple of days ago the methods used to extract money out of shows and circuses coming to this city should not have referred to the city authorities, for their treatment of shows has at all times been fair and business like.

THE FALL OF SAGASTA now seems inevitable and with him will undoubtedly go the present Spanish dynasty. The queen has made a brave struggle, but she has had to combat ignorance, treachery and rapacity. Spain's worst enemies today are some of her most influential men, among whom Weyler is most notorious.

THE PEACE COMMISSION is making rapid work and in a few days the leading points in the treaty of peace will all be agreed upon. Spain has already lost Porto Rico and Guam, for over them floats the stars and stripes. She has agreed to surrender Cuba and to abandon her claims that America or Cuba should assume the Cuban bonds. It remains but to decide the fate of the Philippines and the treaty will be ready.

A PRESUMPTUOUS ASSUMPTION.

THE ADVOCATES of the infamous Goebel election law, in all their arguments, make the assumption that democrats will do no wrong, i. e. free silver democrats, while republicans are without exception thieves and robbers. This argument may satisfy a follower of Goebel, but it won't satisfy the people. Experience has proved that no political party can at all times be trusted if no check at all is put upon its power. In legislative bodies the minority can generally influence the actions of the majority, by appeals to the people and tactics well known to the public. In the recent session of the Kentucky legislature, however, the minority had no weight and the Goebel election law was passed in the face of protests from republicans and democrats, not only from the state, but also from the legislature itself. The arguments used to force the passage of the bill were the same that are now being used to placate the public. Thus, the overwhelming republican majority in the Eleventh congressional district was given as a proof of gross election frauds perpetrated by republican election officials; while the equally overwhelming democratic majority in the First district was given as an instance of what the election returns are where everything is conducted fair and honestly, the election officers in this district being selected by democrats.

This argument would be ridiculous were it not for the serious manner in which it is used by democratic speakers and papers; and yet, ridiculous as it is, it is the main argument that is used by the supporters of the infamous law.

THE GOEBEL LAW was framed and passed with the sole idea of fixing the county election boards so they can be packed with a partisan membership; and today in the 119 counties in Kentucky there are 119 election boards and contest courts, every one of which has been packed by a partisan democratic majority, many of which are without even a republican or populist member. Every semblance of justice and every safeguard to a safe ballot is thrown to the winds and all the security that the voters of this grand old commonwealth have is the immaculate purity and the delicate sense of honor of the free silver democratic politician who finds a place on the election boards because he has been chosen by Senator Goebel as a man after his own heart.

WHAT DO THE ADVOCATES of a free ballot and a fair count think of the prospect?

WHO GOT THE BEER.

State Inspector Lester in his review of the recent Taylorsville speech of Henry George on the state prison management says: "Among the September accounts is a bill rendered by a saloon keeper for three and one-half gallons of beer, approved by the warden and Mr. George's board. The people of the state will sometime or other wish to know who got the beer. They will sometime inquire how it is that the payroll of the officers and guards' salaries for July under republican management, was $3,086.65 and for August, the next month, under the management of Mr. George and his board, exclusive of the salaries of the members of the board, it ran up to $3,307.65, and for the month of September to $3,377.67. All these things are matters that can be learned from the books, which Mr. George is at liberty to inspect whenever he sees fit, and before he makes another speech it would be well to go over the books, so as to tell the real facts about the management of the institutions he spoke of in his Taylorsville speech.

REPUBLICAN ECONOMY.

LEXINGTON LEADER.
In the management of the charitable and penal institutions of the state and in the contracts for public printing and binding, the republicans have had an opportunity to save the people money and they have done it. Nearly all the other expenditures are wholly without the control of the republicans, being fixed by law or put into the hands of the courts which are generally democratic.

The republicans have never been able to put their ideas of economy on the statute books, because they have never controlled both branches of the legislature; but a reference to the messages of Governor Bradley will show many practical recommendations for saving the taxpayers.

Inspector Lester has shown by a fair and candid statement of facts from the public records that the republicans have saved to the people from $12 to $18 per year for each inmate in our asylums, without in any way impairing the efficiency of these institutions. He has shown that republicans saved about $35,000 a year in the management of the Kentucky penitentiary.

We want now to give just two illustrations as to the savings made by the republicans in the public printing and binding.
In 1895 the democrats, under a contract let by them, had 670,000 tax schedules printed—everybody knows what a tax schedule is. For printing these schedules the democrats paid $6,800 to some political favorite.

In 1898 the republicans, under a contract let by them, had 700,000 of these same schedules printed, 30,000 more than the democrats, for which they paid $1,500, less than one-fourth the amount the democrats paid for the smaller number. Both contracts were let under the same law.

In 1895 the democrats paid for a plain eight-quire deed book $12.16; in 1898 the republicans, under the same law, had the same company make the same books for $6.02.

This is a plain, fair statement of an undisputed fact. There is no jugglery of figures here. Other record books and blanks are now made with the same saving; but these two illustrations are sufficient to show the difference between democratic extravagance and republican economy at Frankfort.

CUBAN POLICE FORCE.

CHICAGO RECORD.
Adj.-Gen. Corbin is now engaged in the preparation of a scheme for the organization of Cuban and Spanish soldiers into a police force, ultimately to relieve the United States regulars from duty on that island. Several plans have been talked over, but none has yet been decided upon. When the president returns from Philadelphia the matter will be taken up, and the recommendations of Gen. Wade, Gen. Shafter, Gen. Wood, Gen. Lawton, Col. Waring and others who have looked into this subject will be formulated into a report and a series of recommendations.

The most favored plan thus far is to mix the Spaniards and Cubans without regard to their previous antagonism, and add a battalion of them to each regiment of regulars for the present at least. By such association and contact it is believed that they would soon pick up the Spanish language. Until the experiment has had a fair trial it would be considered advisable in nearly every case to select both the commissioned officers and non-commissioned officers from our own army.

As the recruits are educated in American military customs and discipline the better men among them will make themselves felt and can gradually be substituted for American officers.

Gen. Corbin thinks there will have to be legislation by congress, however, before this or any similar plan can be carried out. He cannot find anything in the present statutes to authorize it.

A CURIOUS LAWSUIT.

Courts Appealed to for Permission to Sacrifice a Cow.
A curious and novel civil case has recently come up for trial at Midnapore (or Midnapur if you prefer it), Bengal. A Mussulman built a mosque on his own land, and on the occasion of the Bakr-Id festival desired to sacrifice the customary cow. This his Hindu neighbors, to whom the cow is, of course, a sacred beast, refused to permit. The Bakr-Id, indeed, is a familiar source of trouble to the government of India by reason of the frequent riots which occur at that festival between the rival creeds. Usually a number of heads are broken on either side, and the result is settled in a criminal court, but on this occasion the Mussulman seems to have preferred to submit his grievance to a civil tribunal. He, therefore, proceeded to sue all the Hindu neighbors, to the number of 400, praying for a decree declaring his rights in his matter of cow killing and other matters, whatsoever. Furthermore, he asked for a perpetual injunction against the defendant Hindus. The case had not been decided when the last mail came in, but the mere fact that it was commenced is sufficiently humorous to western ideas. Fancy a Roman Catholic in England being compelled to sue all his Protestant neighbors because they refused to permit him to burn incense in his own chapel built on his own land! The experiment might be tried when the new and magnificent Roman cathedral in Ashby Gardens is finished.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Capt. Craft, of the U. C., whose son Harry joined the navy about two months ago, is very proud of him. Harry is only 17 years old; has been in the navy only two months; has been highly complimented as being the best rifle shot on the island (Custer Harbor Island), and has been promoted twice, first to petty officer, then to first petty officer, with the rank of captain, and has charge of all the other boys there. He is studying the big guns there, and says they have several of the Hotchkiss kind, and have just received a new C. his rapid fire gun, which shoots 1,000 times a minute. The gunner holds the trigger and the gun does the rest. He writes that they will start on their cruise to foreign ports before long in the good ship "Alliance." He was complimented by the recruiting officer at Chicago as being the finest-built boy that ever passed through that office, and was also very highly complimented by Dr. Boyd, of our city, in the same manner. Harry is quite a genius, being something of an artist, electrician and operator. He is of a kind and generous disposition and has a bright future before him. We congratulate Capt. Craft.

The Memphis division officials are working on a new time table, but we have been unable to learn just when it will be out. There are rumors of a St. Louis flyer and a Newbern accommodation being added.

It is said that the preferred runs will be run into the new yards at South Memphis the first of November.

Our general train master, Mr. J. A. Frates, has on account of shortage in the dispatchers' force, been working a twelve-hour trick for the last two weeks.

The gravel for the new track is being rushed, and train crews are all making good time.

Yesterday's Fulton Leader says: Last night about 10 o'clock when engine No. 612, with Joe Baxter at the throttle and Joe Harrington stoking, was taking water at the tank it was run into by the Cairo local freight coming down the grade north-west of town. Engineer A. L. Merriweather was on the local with a negro fireman and tried to avert a collision by reversing his engine, but the air brakes refused to respond and the local rushed on to its doom.

Engineer Baxter said that No. 612 was beyond control and stopped taking water in a jiffy, backed his engine down the track, but only got as far as Paschall's drug store when No. 613 crashed into his own engine, striking with such force as to send the engine several hundred yards down the track towards 'the Tennessee line, and the engine of the local was torn into an almost inconceivable wreck. Engineer Baxter and his fireman jumped for their lives and the former received considerable injuries in the way of sprains and bruises.

Several passengers were on the local and were rudely jostled by the accident but none seriously hurt.

The track was badly torn up and iron string cut along the route from street car to street car.

Engineer Baxter, of No. 612, thinks some one tampered with the air brakes at Clinton, as that was the last place at which he stopped last night, and it is possible some villain cut the brakes before the train left that town or they would have responded in time to save the engines.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

That Common Trouble, Acid Dyspepsia or Sour Stomach.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to promptly digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the Stuart Chemical Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectively restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life more living.

Each Has Its Tale.

Not a blade of grass but has a story to tell; not a heart but has its romance; not a life which does not hide a secret which is either its thorn or its spur; even under the petrification of old age, as in the twisted form of fossils, we may discover the agitations and tortures of youth. This thought is the magic wand of poets and preachers; it strips the scales from our fleshly eyes, and gives us a clear view into human life.—Amiel's Journal.

NEWS SUMMARY.

Admiral Dewey has expressed the opinion in a communication to the peace commissioners at Paris that the Philippines of the northern islands in the group are capable of self-government.

Movement of troops from Camp Poland, at Knoxville, to camps farther south will begin next week. The investigating committee will be at Knoxville October 30.

The hospital ship Relief reached Philadelphia Wednesday from Porto Rico with a load of sick soldiers from Illinois, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania regiments.

The election law test case will be argued and submitted in the appellate court today, whether the republican lawyers appear or not.

Jesse James Jr., will be tried at Kansas City, Mo., next week on the charge of train robbery.

The Pythian grand lodge will meet next year at Henderson.

The democratic congressional committee at Washington is said to be counting on a democratic majority of at least twenty-five in the next house. The republican committee concedes that the republican majority will be retained, but claims that the republicans will organize the house.

Gen. Wood, military governor of Santiago, will establish today at Manzanillo a civil government on the Santiago plan. The situation as regards the Cubans has been somewhat strained since the Americans occupied Manzanillo.

The American evacuation commissioners at Havana continue to advise the sending of warships. Gen. Becker's warning that longer postponement of definite action by the United States may result in trouble with the Cubans is emphasized by the return to the Bills of a small band of Cubans near Sagua.

President Ingalls, of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Big Four railways, says the decision of the United States supreme court in the Joint Traffic Association case will be worse for the shippers than for the railroads. He thinks shippers will petition congress to pass a law legalizing traffic agreements. President Ripley, of the Santa Fe route, says railroads are either public or private corporations; if private they should be left alone, and if public should be protected. Chairman Blanchard, of the Joint Traffic Association, thinks the decision a turning point, which will lead to action by congress throwing safeguards around the conduct of traffic.

The court of appeals, in a decision handed down by Judge Bourke Wednesday in the case of Louisville vs. Mary S. Kuntz, declared unconstitutional that part of the Louisville charter which provides that actions against the city for damages to person or property must be begun within six months after the cause of action accrues.

A SLAVE TRADER.

How James Bowie Made a Fortune in a Short Time.

The United States had not long suppressed the slave trade. There were plenty, still, of lowland planters, with money in both pockets, ready to buy whatever of "black ivory" other men would fetch in. Lafayette, the Louisiana pirate, kept up the business of such trafficking. His haunts were no great ways from the Bowie habit; moreover, young James was in the way of coming upon the pirate whenever the business of board raffling took him to New Orleans. He was too shrewdly American not to grudge such fair profits to a pack of foreigners.

In company with his brother, Rezin Bowie, Jr., and two others of like adventurous minds, he undertook to get a fair sharing in it.

Money was needed to begin. Bowie sold his land to get it. Then the four entered into treaty with Lafitte. He sold them sound and likely blacks off his slave ships at the rate of a dollar a pound. That made the average price something like $110 the head. In the open market the blacks would fetch from $50 to $1,000 each. But there was another and a better chance of gain, which the trading crew were quick to seize upon. Under the laws then standing, all Africans brought in violation of the statute were confiscated and sold out of hand, one-half the price going to the authorities, the other to the informer. Bowie and his comrades made a practice of informing upon themselves; then when the slaves were seized and sold they bid them in, pocketed half the money they paid, and found themselves free to offer their purchases wherever they chose. For the blacks were now lawfully within United States boundaries, and a commodity as staple and as marketable as cotton.

The profit was enormous—nobody ever bid against the partners at the forced sales, though there were a lively crying and a swift mounting of prices at the later vendings. Altogether the company realized a profit of some $65,000 within a couple of years. But the business involved such humbug and flummery of false names, pretended disguises, and pretended seizures that the Boviees pretty soon tired of it. They dissolved it, and at least set about spending as strenuously as they had gone about making.—Martha McCallach-Williams, in Harper's Magazine.

Business Men of the British Capital Like to Congregate.

The determination of blood, brain and wealth to the head, i. e., London, accounts for the extraordinary representative character of its club life. Nearly all the provincial leading men are members, even if they only come up to town once or twice a year.

When we mention the fact that there are over 100 clubs in London alone, with an average number, say, of 800 members each, making a total membership of over 80,000, the reader will be able to form something like

WINE OF CARDUI
MELREE'S
has demonstrated ten thousand times that it is almost infallible FOR WOMAN'S PECULIAR WEAKNESSES, irregularities and derangements. It has become the leading remedy for the whole world. It cures a wonderfully healing, strengthening and sedative influence upon the menstrual organs. It cures "white" and "falling" of the womb. It stops flooding and relieves oppressed and painful menstruation. For Change of Life it is the best medicine made. It is beneficial during pregnancy, and helps to bring children into the world healthy and strong. It is a great remedy in all cases of all affected women. Why will any woman suffer another minute with certain relief within reach? Wine of Cardui only costs $1.00 per bottle at your drug store. For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving name, to the "Indian" Advisory Department, The Cardui Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. Rev. J. W. Smith, Camden, S. C., says: "I will use Wine of Cardui in all cases of falling of the womb and it entirely cured her."

an adequate idea of the great social significance of these institutions. Probably the total number of members is far beyond this, for although some clubs possess only 300 or 400 members, there are 30 which vary in numbers from 1,000 to 6,000. And to indicate the tendency which exists to increase the present total, there is a club now in course of erection which, it is said, will have 10,000 members.

The amount of capital invested in London clubs may be reckoned by millions. Many of the buildings have cost immense sums, for instance, the National Liberal and the Constitutional; not to mention the older establishments, several of which, although palaces in themselves, have been eclipsed in splendor by the two most recent buildings just named.—Joseph Foster in Chautauque.

THE FIERCE CARIBS.

Early Cannibalism in West Indies—At a Poor Monk.

We can picture the depredations caused by the most voracious cannibals, and the terror they must have excited in the minds of the milder islanders. Peter Martyr tells us that in his time alone more than 5,000 men had been taken from the island of Sancti Johannis to be eaten. Even after the Caribs had abandoned cannibalism they continued a fierce and desperate people, shunned and dreaded by Arrows and Europeans alike, and when cannibalism had ceased to be an everyday matter it would break out every now and then when occasion arose. The establishment of Spanish rule and the disappearance of the Arrows must have been the main factors in the decline of cannibalism, but before such was the case Caribs seem to have given up the practice in some places. Thus Herrera says that "those of St. Cruz and Dominica were greatly addicted to predatory excursions, hunting men," but not long before he wrote the Caribs of Dominica had eaten a poor monk, "and he so disagreed with them that many died, and that for a time they left off eating human flesh, making expeditions instead to carry off cows and mares."—Lady Edith Blake, in Popular Science Monthly.

THIRD KENTUCKY.

Maj. Boyd's Resignation Will Result in Several Promotions.

Captain Davis and His Pioneer Detail Leave Lexington.

The resignation of Major Boyd has created a vacancy which will probably cause several promotions, says the Lexington Herald. It is almost an assured fact that Capt. Bell will be promoted from first assistant surgeon to major surgeon. Capt. Bell and Col. Smith have returned from Frankfort, where they went to see Governor Bradley concerning the nomination.

Then the following will be in line for promotion: Second assistant surgeon, Captain Garrett, for first assistant surgeon; Chief Hospital Steward Saunders for second assistant surgeon; Hospital Steward McDaniel for chief hospital steward; Sergeant McKnight and Sergeant Nuttall, the latter of Company M, for hospital stewards.

There has been for the past four or five nights a "silvering" crowd composed of soldiers from the Third Kentucky and 160th Indiana, which pays its respects to the whole camp. They arm themselves with tin pans and bugles and start on a march through the camp. Tuesday night they visited the Second Missouri; passing through the First Territorial.

Lieutenant Bebout, of Company K, recently promoted, has returned from leave to Paducah, Ky.

Hospital Steward McDaniel has returned from furlough at Hopkinsville.

A quantity of stoves has been ordered and Colonel Smith will try to get a large number for the Third Kentucky. The winter underclothing for the Third has arrived.

The Third is arranging for a field day soon.

It is becoming a habit with some persons to steal overcoats about the regiment. Bandmaster Haggerty's coat is among the missing.

Within the next two weeks a popular second lieutenant of the regiment will be married to a fair Kentucky maiden.

Since the recent cold snap some are contemplating taking a "hot-foot" as a remedy for the cold feet experienced lately.

Captain F. G. Bailey, of Company G, is sick in the city. His wife is attending him.

A board of survey, composed of Major Saffarans, Captain N. T. Howard, of Company I, and Quartermaster Martin, has condemned most of the tents in camp and they will be left here when the regiment goes south.

Many new recruits have been received from the Kentucky cavalry. Company K enlisted three men Tuesday.

Lieutenant Sawyer, of Company L, is in command of the company during the absence of Captain Brewer.

Hay is being placed in the holes about the camp.

Yesterday Captain Atkinson was officer of the day and Lieutenant Bebout officer of the guard.

Captain Davis left last night with his pioneer detail. The Third Kentucky men were Sam Garrett, Company A; T. G. Fletcher, Company B; R. H. Smith, Company C; J. W. McMannus, Company C, and J. C. Porter, Company C.

B. is the best cure for all blood and skin diseases ever discovered. Beware of substitutes said to be "just as good." $1.00 per large bottle.

A NOTED JOURNALIST CURED AND TESTIFIES.

I was afflicted for three years with rheumatism of the ankle and joints to such an extent that locomotion was difficult, and I suffered great pain. I was induced to try a bottle of B. B. B., and before I had completed the second bottle I experienced an entire cure. Six months have passed since the swelling and pain disappeared, and I will state that B. B. B. has effected a permanent cure, for which I am very grateful.

QUICK-WITTED IRISHMAN.

Saved the Day for Himself and for His Lawyer.

My first case came at Florence, Ala., a few months after I was licensed, writes Attorney B. M. Jackson. The sheriff there, Capt. W. T. White, now dead, a gallant confederate soldier, and one of nature's noblemen, met me on the street and told me there was a man confined in the county jail who wished to see me.

I was then 21 years old, but would readily have passed for 17. The client's name was Patrick Donevan, but he was commonly called "Patsy" Donevan. Going to the jail, I found a man from 30 to 35 years old, an intelligent, nice looking, devil-may-care Irishman. When I entered he greeted me with "Good evening, Miss." Pretending not to have heard him address me as "Miss," and assuming much dignity, I told him I was the lawyer of whom the sheriff had promised to send him. For answer he exclaimed: "Well, I'll be d—," and burst out laughing—laughing uproariously. I was irritated to a degree by this reception. "I beg pardon, judge; it's a go. You do look pretty young, but Tom (the sheriff) says you are a daisy. Get me out of here and my folks, who've got plenty, will pay you well for your trouble."

He told me his story. He was a skilled mechanic from Cooke, Ia., and had been employed by the government in constructing a lock on the Missouri Shoals canal, near Florence. He had shot the physician in charge at those works. "The physician was a brother of the United States engineer in control of the canal construction, and it was evident that the prosecution would be bitter, sparing no pains or expense to secure a conviction, entailing a long penitentiary sentence. The doctor and my client were both men of reckless courage and overbearing temper, both sometimes looked on the wine when it was red, and both, I inferred, were striving for the favor of the same woman. A clash between them soon came. They had a savage quarrel at their boarding house at dinner. The doctor, being armed and my client unarmed, the latter had to submit to unlimited abuse, and would have been shot but for the interference of several men who were present. Soon after night-fall of the same day my client went to the doctor's office and sleeping-room, about a mile distant and in a secluded place, and knocking on the door, was hidden by the doctor to come in. Entering, he found the doctor putting on a shirt, and thus for the moment disabled, and remarking: "You had the drop on me this morning, but I've got it on you now," fired, striking the doctor in the neck and inflicting a dangerous but not fatal wound.

The case soon came on for trial. While the defendant's version of the occurrence as he had given it to me was very different from the one in the foregoing, yet it was so improbable that the defendant's version of the attendant circumstances that it looked like a sentence of ten years was inevitable if the case was then tried. To gain a postponement an objection was interposed to the competency of the court on the ground that he was related by affinity to the prosecutor. This failed. Next an earnest effort was made for a continuance. The state fought this aggressively, thus giving warning of what was to come, and it, too, failed. In sheer desperation I then whispered to my client: "Your real name is Patrick, not 'Patsy,' isn't it?" (The indictment named him "Patsy" Donevan.) Then moved to quash the indictment for the misdemeanor, I wrote out the defendant's affidavit in support. The affidavit stated that the defendant's name was Patrick, and that he was commonly known and called by this name, and not by the name of "Patsy" Donevan. He took the affidavit and read or seemed to read it carefully, and, going to the clerk's desk, swore to it and signed it—"Patsy" Donevan. This, of course, was the way he usually signed his name, but he never reflected that to sign it "Patsy" this time was to afford the strongest evidence of the falsity of the affidavit.

Arguing the case without looking at the indictment, I saw how he had signed it, but the state attorney had noticed the signature, and in his reply called the court's attention to it. This disclosure raised a storm of laughter and jeering in the courtroom. I was confounded and at the end of my resources. Not so was "Patsy." Realizing his peril, that the slip was his own, and that he alone could retrieve it, he spoke out, not a whit abashed: "I signed it 'Patsy.' It's not for me to give the lie to your honor's court papers. Your honor's court papers say I'm 'Patsy,' and I'll sign it 'Patsy' until your honor gives me leave to write my own true name."

The court sustained the motion from pure admiration for "Patsy." We now had time to look about us. A few months later the case was tried, the jury failing to agree. The bail bond, which had been fixed at a high figure, was then reduced to a reasonable sum. He gave the bond, saying he had "lost by a nose," but he never returned to stand another trial, although his bondmen were promptly reimbursed, and the writer was generously remembered, receiving, as I now remember, $300. I have often been curious to know what became of the gay, rollicking, imperturbable "Patsy."—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

A NEW OCCUPATION.

Breeding of Angora Cats Presents Financial Possibilities for Women.

Forrest Crissey, in discussing "The Breeding of Angora Cats as a Vocation," in the January number of Woman's Home Companion, says: "It is the general opinion of those cat fanciers that the culture of Angoras is an occupation which any young woman with a fondness for pets and a little of the commercial instinct may pursue with profit as well as pleasure. It is an occupation in which success does not depend upon a special talent. One cannot succeed in literature, music, the arts, or in teaching, without a course of training and an inborn adaptability, but the rearing of cats calls for no mental preparation, or for any rare power in any particular direction. Capital, however, is necessary. Angora cats bring a good price, and it will cost something to establish a kennel. The amount will depend upon the magnitude of the beginning. One may expend $100 and secure, perhaps, three choice thoroughbred adults, or at an outlay of $25, or thereabouts, one may purchase a male and a female kitten and rear them herself. The fitting up of a suitable kennel need not cost much, but there are important points in the construction and care of the kennel which should not be neglected, and which any owner of Angoras is always ready to explain. The essentials for a successful Angora kennel are not elaborate. Most important is an ample outdoor runway, made of woven wire, with a roof of the same material. This should connect with a cozy house or dormitory. Both apartments should be provided with elevated shelves, as the cats like to sleep far from the ground as possible. They also enjoy the exercise of jumping up to and down from their elevated perches. Fresh grass and pure milk are absolute necessities. The Angora has been a much-slandered animal. The general public believes it to be delicate in physique and surly and treacherous in disposition. This is as far from the truth as is possible. They are almost uniformly amiable and affectionate in disposition, and possess hardy and vigorous constitutions. They are full of interesting eccentricities, however."

THEY SMELL A CRIME.

Funny Result of Burning Up an Old Rag Baby.

One day recently a well-known citizen of Home City employed a colored man living in the place to remove to the river bank and burn some rubbish that had been deposited in his yard. The man did as directed, and after a good blaze had been started returned to the village. He had not been gone long when two young men happened upon the scene. Noticing the smoldering embers of what had been the fire, and at the same time scenting a strong smell as if flesh had been burning about the scene of the fire, the two looked in that direction and discerned what appeared to them to be the head of an infant protruding out of the ashes. Not waiting to investigate further the two surmised that a foul crime had been perpetrated upon the spot. They bolted up into the village, and almost entirely out of breath, disclosed to Marshal Kinsella the faint details of their horrible discovery. The three then repaired to the river bank on a dead run. Arriving there the two men began looking around for the charred remains, but could find nothing. While they were prosecuting the search further Marshal Kinsella sent word to the marshal of an adjoining village, and he, too, repaired to the scene posthaste. A more careful search soon revealed that what the two men had really seen was the almost burnt remains of what had once been a rag baby in the home where the rubbish had accumulated. The two marshals took turns kicking each other all the way up the bank. They have vowed that they will get even on some one.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Rheumatism Brought It Forth.

When in a reminiscent mood the other day Denman Thompson said that when suffering from an attack of rheumatism nearly 23 years ago he conceived the character of Joshua Whitcomb. At first he had only a sketch, but it was very popular, and was gradually developed into the "Old Homestead."

"The Jews make great use of olive oil, and to this practice has been ascribed their freedom from skin diseases and consumption."

"Because a woman is a poor housekeeper is no sign that she is any account for anything else."—Washington Democrat.

The Northwest Passage.

Efforts were made to discover the Northwest passage by early navigators for the purpose of opening up a short route between Europe and Asia. By looking at a map of the world you can easily understand the advantage of such a route. Really there is such a route, but, so far as commerce is concerned, it is useless, because a passage through it might consume years, on account of the dangers and stoppages in that region of perpetual ice. The only advantages gained from the numerous explorations was a knowledge of the animal and vegetable life, the topography and electrical conditions of the polar regions.—Golden Days.

COLORED DEPARTMENT.

The season of the year has come when all sorts of forecasts are made as to what kind of weather we are to have the coming winter. Usually the oldest inhabitants are sought for their ideas, and all usually agree in their opinions, whether right or wrong. Augury signs and omens play no small part in their minds as means of interpretation. From year to year we are told at this time of the coming winter weather, and for three successive falls we have been told that the following winters were to be the hardest and most severe in years, and in each case the prophecies have failed. We are warned of the horridness of the winter, the thickness of the wool on the sheep's back and of spiders weaving suspension bridges across our path; and we find in the last three years all have failed of absolutely any significance whatever, so far as being useful as a means of interpretation. The fact is, the day of signs and wonders is rapidly passing with the idea of a Fountain of Youth, "by Leon sought this the stormy main," the Elixer of Life and perpetual motion.

Not a few persons still hold these ideas which are being combatted by the intelligent, but nature is doing more in the evolution of time of seasons and years to banish these ideas than anything else.

There will be an entertainment given at the First-ward Baptist church tomorrow night.

It was rumored yesterday that Mrs. Brown, of the county, was stricken with paralysis and "had not spoken all day."

W. D. Morris is up and out from an attack of chills and fever.

It is said that neither of the colored regiments will participate in the exercises of the peace jubilee now on at Philadelphia.

Capt. Allen Allensworth, who has been in this state several months getting recruits for the regular army, has been ordered to his post at Fort Douglas, Utah.

Dear reader, don't be surprised if we differ from you in our opinions. If all of us thought alike neither would we need the assistance of the other. Many of our readers seem to be awaking to the fact that we are not trying to do anybody's thinking but our own—even that is task enough.

The subscriber who informs us politely and promptly, when we are wrong, is a friend.

The subscriber who fails to give us the news is absentee.

The reader who keeps his temper and good opinion of the paper, even if we couldn't publish his article, is level-headed.

The subscriber who thinks a home paper, with all the local and the gist of all foreign news, isn't cheap at 10c per week, is badly informed.

The fellow who thinks he ought not to pay for a paper because it didn't reach him after he had changed his residence without notifying the publishers, is a—no we won't say it.

Our thanks are due Mr. Bartlett Smith for the excellent selection rendered on the clarinet.

Look out for "high teas;" they are coming down the pike at full speed.

We have a flower show, horse shows, dog shows, cat shows, chicken shows, and a New York is to go on all or better by giving a snake show. It is hardly probable that their will be any necessity for an entrance of ladies, and it will hardly be necessary to cut a tunnel to let them out should any enter.

Now that mother earth has folded her tired child to her bosom and the last rites of love and friendship have been paid above the mound that marks its last resting place, we feel all the more deeply how much we have lost in the death of "Uncle" Sam Starley. Few indeed, are the men of whom all speak well, but he was one of the few, and there is no colored man in the city who has more white friends than he had.

No matter how good our intentions when we start out in life, human nature is but weak, and only too soon the majesty succumb to the blandishments of the world. Praise inflates and blame hardens us. We lose those pure ideals we once cherished so fondly, we grow cynical as one by one our ideals are shattered by the desire to make others nobler and better, for our example becomes a child's dream. But this was not the case with "Uncle" Sam. He was always a willing and ready to give advice to those who sought his counsel; and it is said by those who knew him best that he would go out of the way to pay an honest debt; and in the beautiful "closing scene" of nature, he has paid his last debt and laid down the burden of life to be received with the welcome approbation, "Well done."

The S. R. C. club of the Trimbles-street Christian church, will give a Kentucky oyster supper at the church tomorrow night. All are invited.

This Offer Almost Surpasses Belief

An External Tonic Applied to the Skin. Beautifies it as by Magic. THE DISCOVERY OF AGE. A Woman was the Inventor.

Many preparations intended to beautify the complexion have failed, since they do not produce a tonic effect on the skin. Because the Misses Bell's Complexion Tonic has such an effect, it succeeds where all more cosmetics invariably fail. This great remedy, discovered by the Misses Bell, the eminent complexion specialists of No. 24 Fifth Avenue, New York City, carries off all impurities, which the blood forces to the surface of the body. It is exhilarating and vitalizing wherever applied. It removes pimples, blackheads, moths, patches, wrinkles, liver spots, roughness, and eruptions disappear, and the skin becomes soft and supple as a baby's.

The Misses Bell's new book, "Secrets of Beauty," is sent free. It tells how a woman can gain and keep a good complexion. Special chapters on the care of the hair, how to preserve its color and lustre, even to an advanced age. Also how to get rid of greyness, hair on the neck and arms without injury to the skin. This valuable book will be mailed to any address upon request. Correspondents cordially solicited. Address:

TIGER AND BULL FIGHT.

A Remarkable Contest Witnessed in an Arena at Madrid.

In the Plaza de Toros of Madrid, a combat was recently fought between the famous matador tiger Cezar and the bull Regatero. The bull was the first to appear in the inclosure. He was walking leisurely when the tiger glided in and at once sprang upon him, firmly implanting his claws in his hide. The bull, taken by surprise, seemed at first undecided what to do, then with a terrible bellow he reared up and shook his adversary off. He backed several paces, and charged, taking the tiger upon his horns and throwing him ten feet into the air. He then returned and repeated the attack. He did this again and again, and each time the tiger, after being thrown, would land on his feet. After the tenth trial, Cezar seemed to lose heart, he returned to a corner of the arena and pretended to be dead. The bull could not get at him there, but kept careful watch, and each time the tiger moved Regatero lowered his head to charge. At length the tiger stole out, but was immediately charged by the bull, which had moved several yards away. Regatero, this time, sure of his prey, gored without throwing. The tiger rolled over apparently dead, but when the door of the den was opened he made a dash for it. The bull following, gave him a few parting strokes of the horn. During the entire combat the audience showed the greatest enthusiasm, and applauded wildly the attacks of the bull, while they hissed the strategic movements of the tiger.

COMMITTEE MEETING

The Pumping Station Question to Be Settled Tonight.

The Committee Will Consider Ways and Means of Completing It.

The sewerage committee of the council, together with two or three other members of the council, will meet tonight at the city hall in conference to consider the question of completing the pumping station of the sewerage system, which has been hanging fire for some time, while waiting to hear from Contractor White, who has demanded $250 more than the contract calls for, to cover the alleged additional expense due for extra work decided on by the council.

It will be remembered that there was a disagreement on the kind of cement to be used under the former administration, and work was then stopped, and has since been suspended. It is claimed that the only objection to having people tap the sewers is that the pumping station, which could be used only in case of high water, is not completed.

The specifications for the station was left rather vague, and it was on their construction that the contractors and representatives first disagreed.

RAILROAD WON.

The Jury Decides in Favor of the Illinois Central.

Suit Was for Extra Services Alleged to Have Been Rendered.

The suit of Attorney John G. Miller against the Illinois Central Railroad Company was this morning decided in the circuit court, the jury in the case, which took it yesterday afternoon, bringing in a verdict in favor of the defendant. The case had been on trial for three or four days, and was ably contested.

Mr. Miller was formerly claim agent for the railroad, but resigned, and a few months afterwards brought suit against the road for about $600 alleged to be due him for extra services.

There were in attendance men of prominence in railroad circles from Chicago, Louisville and other places, and the verdict was awaited with interest. It is improbable that a new trial will be asked or an appeal taken.

TEMPLE ISRAEL.

At this evening's services at Temple Israel Rabbi H. G. Enelow will inaugurate a series of discourses on the characters of the Old Testament as interpretations of human life, past and present. Whether the discourses will follow one another without interruption, it is not yet certain. But the first of the series will be delivered at tonight's service and will deal with Abraham's Call and Wanderings, and his place in the civilization of the world. This evening the choir will also use for the first time new music of the Temple's new ritual, the Union Prayer Book. Services begin at 7:30 sharp. All are cordially invited to attend.

TOOK A DOOR BELL.

A novel theft was committed on West Court street last night at Annie Cox's. The door bell was on the screen door, which someone neglected to lock. During the night someone visited the place and took the bell off, carefully unscrewing it and not leaving even the screws. There is no clue.

DEATH OF A SISTER.

Dr. W. C. Eubanks received the sad intelligence last evening that his sister, Miss Alice Eubanks, died yesterday at her home in Stanford, Ky. It was very sad news, Dr. Eubanks having just returned from Stanford, where he attended the funeral of his mother. He will not attend the funeral of the sister.

SALE OF PADUCAH ICE COMPANY STOCK.

On Monday, the 14th day of November, at the Citizens' Savings Bank, corner of Broadway and Third streets, in Paducah, Kentucky, at or about the hour of ten o'clock a. m., I will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following certificates of stock in the Paducah Ice Company, to-wit: Certificates numbered 15, 37 and 46; the first and second certificates representing FOUR SHARES EACH and the last numbered certificate represents and calls for two shares of stock in said Paducah Ice Company, of the face value of Five Hundred Dollars each, making a total of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The certificates will be offered separately and then as a whole, and the offer for same representing the greatest sum or number of dollars, will be accepted. Said three certificates of stock, representing ten shares, were pledged by the late T. H. Puryear to secure the payment of a certain note for five thousand dollars, which note is now past due. Said certificates are dated as follows, to-wit: No. 15, February 8th, 1888; No. 37, December 7th, 1892, and No. 46, May 31st, 1895, respectively, and will be transferred on the books of said Paducah Ice Company, and delivered to the purchaser or purchasers; and this sale is by virtue of a judgment and order of the McCracken Circuit Court, in case of E. H. Scott, administrator, against E. A. Puryear, et al.
